How Much Is a DNP Worth?
Two advanced practice nurses share their salary struggles after earning this degree.

Diversity, Inclusion, Acceptance, and Tolerance. These actions seem to be in short supply these days. What are we as nursing professionals prepared with a terminal practice degree doing to make the most of the challenges around us? Are we working together to improve outcomes? These are challenges that take a lifetime to address. The depth and talent of DNP prepared professionals can make a tremendous impact on the health care delivery system in practice, policy, administration, informatics, and of course improving clinical outcomes.

Prepare to present and attend this year’s national DNP conference. The theme is

Celebrating 10 Years:
Diversity and Inclusion in Practice

Please submit your abstract for consideration to present at this year’s event. A great venue has been lined up at the Intercontinental Hotel in New Orleans. Submit you abstract, share this opportunity with a friend or colleague, and plan to be a part of this event September 13-15, 2017.
What Will It Mean if the ACA is Repealed?

By the time you read this article, Donald Trump will be the 45th President of the United States. One of his campaign promises was to repeal the Affordable Care Act (ACA) or “Obamacare”. What will it mean if the ACA is repealed?

According to a report compiled by the Congressional Budget Office, approximately 18 million people will lose their health insurance in the next open enrollment period. However, it is important to note that this report was originally prepared in December, 2015 at the request of the Senate leaders of both parties. Although the CBO has been criticized in the past for inflated estimates, the fact remains that some people will lose their current health insurance coverage.

Insurance costs could also increase for some. The CBO reports that premiums would increase 20 to 25%. The CBO does acknowledge that the economic impact for employers, states, insurers, doctors, hospitals, and other healthcare providers are much less uncertain.

One positive aspect of the passage of the ACA was the removal of bias for pre-existing conditions. This means that insurance companies could not charge you more because you have a pre-existing condition. The ACA also meant that they could not charge women more than men. How would repeal of the ACA impact these two conditions? A study by the Kaiser Foundation found that 27% of the population under age 65 have a qualifying pre-existing condition. Implementation of the ACA meant that this percentage of the population couldn’t be denied insurability because of their health. Luckily, both political parties have stated that they would like to keep this portion of the ACA.

Speaker of the House, Paul Ryan (R-WI), introduced “A Better Way” in June, 2016 which is the House Republican plan for universal healthcare coverage. President-elect Trump has not given specific details of his version of a new healthcare plan, but he does concede that the new plan replaces most aspects of the ACA. The “Better Way” promises more health plan choices at lower costs, continuation of nondiscrimination against pre-existing conditions, reduced bureaucracy to cutting edge medical treatments and interventions, and a stronger Medicare; nevertheless, the specifics have yet to be disclosed.

So what will it mean if the ACA is repealed? At this stage there are not any specific answers, only estimations. It is fair to say that, like anything in life, there are pros and cons to this issue and with careful forethought, there can be an amicable solution.

Conversations Overheard in the DNP Online Community

Collaborative Physicians As a solo practitioner, the area doctors view me as a "threat" to their practices and are not willing to "help" me stay in practice.

DNP Group Projects for Capstone Anyone want to share their thoughts and concerns about going this route?

Should we be called “Dr”? I am getting my DNP next week and was just told I could not be called "Dr." within my multidisciplinary medical group because it would "confuse the patients".

Wisdom Alert! We are to empower, teach, and mentor our fellow nurses.

Survival Tips after the Election Many distressed people have been asking me what they can do when feeling bewildered, angry, and powerless.
